Editor's letter

As I write this letter, the UK is on day 46 of the lock-down. I'm reminded that despite this being the June issue, I have no idea what the world landscape will look like in a few weeks' time, or beyond.

For many of us the lock-down has been a frightening experience, worries about our loved one's health, bereavements, job security, money concerns, and possibly home-schooling children to name a few...

It's no wonder that new phrases like 'Mertol Furlough' have been coined, as many find themselves reaching for a glass of wine earlier in the day, relying on the phrase 'it's 6 o'clock somewhere'!

That said, I'm sure all of us know a few people that seem to have enjoyed and have even glided through this self-isolation period. They are enjoying a gentler pace of life; how cordial people are as you pass them whilst exercising. They are finding less cars on the road brings about less pollution, noise and more bird-song can be heard...

In amongst the endless depressing news cycles, there have been moments to cheer about - surely one of the best being Captain Tom Moore reaching his 100th birthday, and raising millions for NHS charities.

However, this edition finds you, everyone at Psychic Light hopes you are staying well and finding little rays of hope, and things to be positive about in the future. In the meantime, we are here for you whenever you need us.

THE LANGUAGE OF

Runes

There are twenty-four stones that make up a Rune set. As with many divination tools, there are different interpretations. For example, some people believe that when a reading is carried out, stones that are inverted/reversed still have a meaning, while others will consider these stones shouldn't be interpreted, as the rune's energy is not present.

25th Stone
 In more modern sets you may find a twenty-fifth stone, which is blank. Folk may interpret this stone as representing self-creation and your destiny. Other readers may feel it is about beginnings and endings.

8, 8 and 8
 Some psychics may like to split the stones up, the first eight meaning the 'conscious realm', the second set of eight representing the 'unconscious realm' and the last set of eight interpreting the 'transformational realm'.

Rune Reading
 A typical Rune reading, will ask the enquirer to select five rune stones. Normally all of the stones are placed into a natural cloth bag. Whilst selecting the stone's it's important to focus on the question being asked. Often a compass layout will be used: the stones are placed face down with four at compass points and one in the centre. North deals with the past and possibly the root cause of the issue at hand. East looks at 'fate', factors in the current moment. South tackles hidden issues that might not have been considered. West provides advice on the problem and the Central stone is the outcome.

Finding your way around the Runes...

It's not unusual for there to be slightly different names or spellings of the rune stones. We will be looking at the common names and meanings for each of the twenty-four stones in the rune set:

1 Fehu Purpose - Abundance - Material Wealth - Respect - Hard-Won Success.

Now is an auspicious time for you, luck is on your side. It's a good time to start something now, things already started will come to fruition. To be really rich in mind, body & soul - share your wealth.

7 Gebo Partnerships - Equals - Generous - Thankful - Selfless - Deep Relationships.

A gift is likely to be exchanged, it could be a physical object, or more metaphorical - such as the gift of wedding vows. A gift is best given with no expectation of something in return - wise sentiments to remember.

2 Uruz Strength - Healing - Passion - Creativity - Willpower.

You can pretend to feel brave, and overcome your weaknesses. It's time to ask of life what you want for yourself - in your love life, work life and more. This is a period of luck, health and happiness for you. Treat others kindly and with tact.

8 Wunjo Celebration - Joy - Happiness - Contentment - Positive Outcomes - Accomplishment.

Good health is on its way to you - great news if you've been feeling under-par. You will enjoy a sense of positivity and community around you. Home and romance are both well, you can expect success and glee. Joy often comes from acceptance.

3 Thurisaz Protection - Release - Direct - Precise - Contemplation - Overcoming Difficulties.

You are looking at a period of difficulty, it will be something out of your control and it's not your fault. But this stone has a protective force and you will get through things. Review the people in your life, make sure they are all positive influences.

9 Hagalaz Fear - Setbacks - Change - Upheaval - Disruption - Past.

A storm is coming your way, but hang-in there, as this too shall pass. Check in with yourself, especially over things in your past, still impacting the present. You may need to face up to a major change, to stop limitations in your future.

4 Ansuz Communication - Truth - Decisions - Wisdom - Unexpected Outcomes.

Now is a time to trust your gut feelings. You can be persuasive and talk your way in or out of a situation as required. Both talk and listen - to actual conversations, and your inner-voice! Be open to guidance from others.

10 Nauthiz Survival - Instincts - Patience - Priorities - Hard Work.

You may feel overwhelmed, your needs are currently being outstripped by your priorities. In a crisis situation, you have to sort the wood from the trees - do only what is essential, put everything else aside. Have confidence you'll come through this.

5 Raidho Willpower - Life Direction Decisions - Learning Lessons - Journeys.

New experiences are opening to you - now is the time to literally step out of your comfort zone. You might have been looking at some sort of change. Don't let rigid thinking keep you still. Embrace a larger world-view.

11 Isla Reflecting - Misunderstandings - Barriers - Stillness.

This is a period for taking stock, it can feel uncomfortable to reflect. But it's necessary to ensure everything is as it should be. Relationships especially should get some scrutiny - do feelings run deep enough?

6 Kenaz Action - Creativeness - Light at the end of the tunnel.

It's quite possible you will meet someone that will turn your world upside down! Passions will flow, but be careful you don't get burnt with all of the heat. Strong energy is good, but recognise it also needs controlling and tempering.

12 Jera Passage of Time - Patience - Completion - Reaping what you sow.

Sometimes it is hard to keep going, taking time to reflect on how far we've come can be just the reward we need. Taking pride in ongoing efforts, ensure that we enjoy the journey as much as the outcome.

13 Eihwaz *Expectations - Endings & Beginnings
- Facing Fears - Boundaries.*

This stone is all about the 'cycle of life', coming to terms with your past has never been so important. Remind yourself that after death, there is rebirth. No matter how difficult things have been, a renewal period is on its way.

14 Pertho *Destiny - The Unknown
- Chance - Fate.*

Now is the time to take a risk! It might not be in your nature to gamble, but providence is on your side... Its time to feel inspired, to be creative, to seek laughter, joy and happiness without any feelings of guilt.

15 Algiz *Peace - Protection - Emotions
- Talent - Temptations.*

Check your inner-circle, is there anyone lurking that truly doesn't have your best interests at heart? Now is not a time for hasty decisions, definitely trust your intuition, move ahead slowly and with caution.

16 Sowilo *Power - Guidance - Hope - Leadership
- Knowledge - The end game.*

You will enter a period of sheer optimism, likely buoyed by a new figure in your life - a real guiding force. Self-confidence will soar, so now is a great time to embark on a new project. Don't let fears and doubt hold you back.

17 Tiwaz *Courage - Trust - Honour
- Selfless - Reliable.*

You may be entering a battle of some kind, perhaps it is work related, or even a legal matter. It will be a fight, but you have the strength and your principles are at stake. Don't compromise, now is a time to stand your ground.

18 Berkano *Nurturing - Renewal
- Fresh Starts - Union.*

Success is coming your way, this may be in the form of a new relationship, or even in career success. New ideas are likely to flourish - so, now is the time to move ahead with them.

19 Ehwaz *Cooperation - Bonds that tie us
- Team-work - New journey.*

Your relationships are entering a period of stability, they are loving, harmonious and strong. This is true of family, partners, friends and even work colleagues. You will provide others with help and support and they will return the favour.

20 Mannaz *Compassion - Intellect
- Courage - Humble.*

It's time to analyse your behaviour, are you treating others the way you would want to be treated? It may be hard to look at your weaknesses, but it is the key to valuing and loving yourself. Spend quality time with your loved ones.

21 Laguz *Intuition - Insights - Emotions
- Learning from past mistakes.*

Your emotions are ebbing and flowing during this time, you may experience some stormy times ahead. You are moving in a forward direction, even if at times it feels like you are taking some steps backwards.

The Healing Power of Honey

For centuries honey has been discussed for its magical healing powers. Science has been slow to catch on, but now various institutions are researching the medicinal benefits for everything from IBS, to wound healing to hay fever symptom relief.

Nectar

Of course, we all know that Bees make honey, using nectar - a secretion from plants that has a sugary fluid texture. Therefore, honey is classified by region, depending on where the Bees have collected the plant nectar.

Not all Honey is created equally

All honey is considered to have some antibacterial properties. But much of the honey we might buy in the supermarket will have been highly processed, stripping out many of the health-benefitting pollen.

Studies into honey that provide health benefits are often unprocessed, eaten raw - the sort you might find from a bee-keeper. For some conditions such as hay fever folk swear by eating honey that is local to where you live for maximum benefits.

Medical or put another way 'active' honey is usually graded and given a number - for example +15. The higher the rating the more protective activity should be present in the honey. You might be familiar with this rating system on 'Manuka' honey - a New Zealand product from tea-tree bush, revered for its health properties. In these cases, the honey is given a UMF rating - Unique Manuka Factor.

Medical Uses

- Medical grade dressings with Manuka honey have been used for burns and for reducing inflammation.
- Several types of honey have been tested against super bugs like MRSA and other wound/dangerous bacteria.
- Some conditions like helicobacter which are resistant to treatment with antibiotics have had more success when combined with honey treatments.

At Home Uses

- Honey can be added to warm water (never hot - as it kills the benefits), glucose and lemon to provide a sore throat and cough tincture.
- Honey can be used on skin, as a way to hold in moisture and as a spot prevention, thanks to its antibacterial and slight acidic properties.
- For hay fever, to boost immunity, and even fight fatigue - try taking 2 teaspoons per day of good quality honey with proven anti-bacterial properties. It's preferable to take before meals (never give to a child under one years old). Try drizzled over porridge/toast as two perfect ways to incorporate into your diet.

The Duchess and the Evil Eye

As you may know The Duchess of Sussex - Meghan Markle, along with Prince Harry are suing Associated Newspapers, otherwise known as the Daily Mail and Mail on Sunday for printing private information.

On the day of the pre-trial Meghan was seen wearing an Evil Eye necklace, it doesn't seem coincidental that in October 2019 when they announced they'd be suing, she wore the same symbol, albeit in bracelet form.

Evil Eye

- The Evil Eye has been mentioned for thousands of years. It is believed to have first been documented in Ancient Greece. Its image is popular in Europe, Asia, Middle East and particularly in Turkey. Today many still wear talismans for protection.
- The Evil Eye was often reserved for those that communities were suspicious of, for example if most people had brown eyes, then misgivings would be cast on those with blue eyes.
- In some cases, the Evil Eye may work on an unconscious level - if you think about emotions or feelings you may harbour against another, like jealousy or resentment. You may covet things that others have, whether it be a relationship or possession.

Talismans

• In Ancient Egypt, the 'Eye of Horus' was worn, to stare down anyone perceived to have the 'Evil Eye'. Sky God Horus had two different meanings for his eyes - the left symbolised 'power of light, the right was his 'solar' eye. In other cases, they formed powder from the crystal Lapis Lazuli, to paint blue on to their eyes and mouths, so the Evil Eye could not infiltrate.

• Wearing an Evil Eye is supposed to banish curses and harmful wishes that others may bring to you. It is also thought to block negative energy and harmful outside influences. Whilst also offering protection from misfortune and menacing looks!

Many press publications have reported that the necklace that Meghan wore was from a company called Edge of Ember. The necklace retails at £135 and is called a Visionary Charm Necklace. The company describes the jewellery as: "Inspired by vintage coins found in Asia, these modern-day talismans carry icons of good fortune. The Visionary Necklace bears a blue topaz evil eye to protect its wearer from negative vibes. It's got your back."

Healing Stones Vanadinite

For those looking to connect further with the earth's energies, look no further than the fiery and energetic Vanadinite! You will usually find Vanadinite ranging in colour from caramel brown to striking red and burning orange. Its distinctive colour makes it a very popular mineral among collectors. Vanadinite is a mixture of a number of minerals including Vanadium, which it was named for.

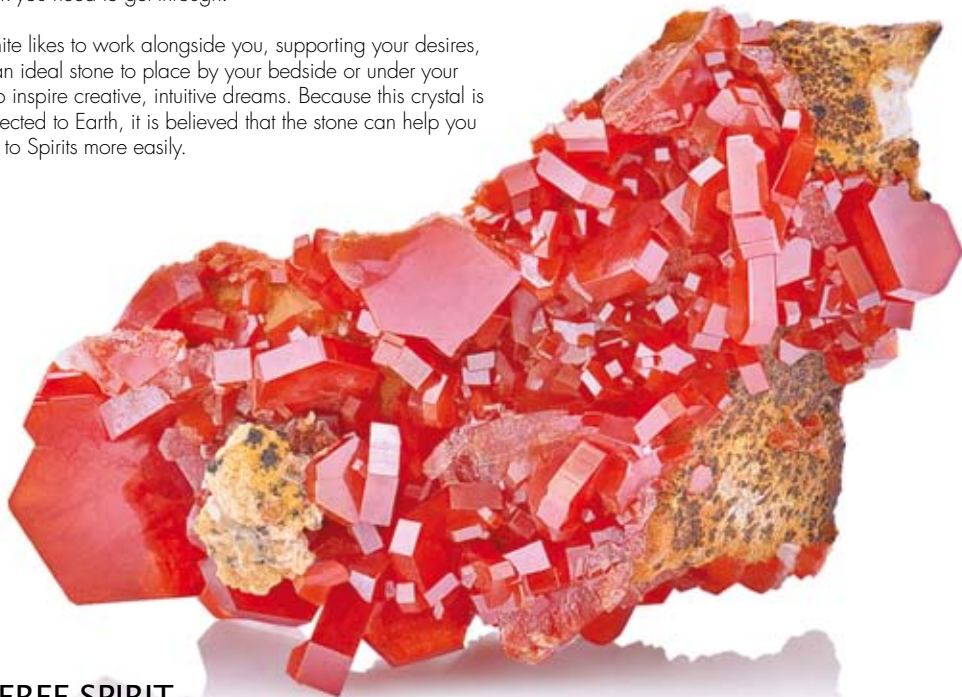

The discovery of Vanadinite was claimed by Andres Manuel del Rio, a Spanish mineralogist, in Mexico City in 1803. He prepared a number of salts from a material contained in 'brown lead' which came to be known as Vanadinite. Deposits can now be found in over 400 mines worldwide. Suppliers of Vanadinite include New Mexico and Arizona, however the largest supplier Mibladen, Morocco has by far produced the most outstanding crystals.

Known as a stone of service, Vanadinite inspires action, promoting order in your life and inspiring you to accomplish your goals. It is also a mentally stimulating stone, and helps organise the mind. This energy can help you carry out the orderly planning of everyday tasks. Vanadinite promotes thrift, so if you have a tendency to overspend then it could be the perfect crystal to work with.

Perhaps Vanadinite's greatest strength though is its ability to aid meditation. The stone can be used in a great number of techniques, and is excellent at clearing the mind, which is essential for a deep state of meditation. The crystal works best with our lower chakras. It energises our base and sacral chakras and once you connect with Vanadinite's energy there's no holding you back! It inspires and stimulates creativity, thrusting us into action. What better way to clear those blockages than to use the fiery energy of Vanadinite to shift any stagnation and bring our lower chakra centres to life?

The energy Vanadinite can give you is truly wonderful. If you have a job which requires you to work long shifts or late nights, then Vanadinite can give you the enduring energy you need. You may want to keep Vanadinite close by at work. If you are feeling the effects of fatigue or need extra strength to meet the office deadlines, choose Vanadinite to give you the spark you need to get through.

Vanadinite likes to work alongside you, supporting your desires, so it is an ideal stone to place by your bedside or under your pillow to inspire creative, intuitive dreams. Because this crystal is so connected to Earth, it is believed that the stone can help you connect to Spirits more easily.

Celebrate Summer Solstice

Summer Solstice arrives in the UK on Saturday 20th June 2020. Assuming some sort of lockdown measures are still in place, it is unlikely that folk will make vigils to ancient sites like Stonehenge to see the sun rise.

History

Historically it would have been a time of community; love rituals would have taken place, bonfires would have roared and it was a time of feasting. All in celebration of the sun, harvest, crops, abundance and everything that Earth had to offer.

Reflect

As the mid-point of the year arrives, it is a great time to reflect, especially spiritually and re-set where necessary, to achieve your best life path.

Many folk feel that the summer solstice period offers a great opportunity to tune into the seasonal vibrational changes that occur. You may find you are more receptive to nature, and more likely to go with the ebbs and flow of life. Great news, if you have been finding recent month's challenging and anxiety inducing.

Celebrate

- Get up early, alone or with your family and watch the marvel that is the sun-rise. Say a little prayer of thanks, for the sun, the light, the warmth and everything it provides.
- If you practise Crystal Healing, now is the perfect time to 'charge' your gem stones. Place them outside in a sunny spot, and let them be energised from the sun's rays.
- Try a midday meditation, when the energy of the sun will be potent and powerful. Embrace all that is still and quiet - enhancing your physical awareness of those that mean the most to you.

Superstition

If you were feeling really brave, you could go outside in your garden - naked and pick the herb - St John's Wort (if you happen to have some planted). This activity was once practised on Midsummer's Eve as a way to cure infertility, it was thought that the herb both lifted mood and increased sexual relations!

Hayley

PIN: 6363

Having visions, intuitions and sensations from Spirit has always been a gift for Hayley. Listening, making sense and interpreting them has been a lifelong journey. Even as a child, Hayley 'knew' things that were beyond the scope of the rational mind. She started to explore connecting with the other side as soon as she became aware, she was different from others.

The path in life for Hayley has been a learning one, with different jobs, such as teaching, lecturing, journalism and marketing. Finding beautiful places to live, experiencing different cultures and travel. Hayley feels she was guided to encounters that gave her multiple experiences of the world. All of which deepened her ability to listen, understand and appreciate the diversity of our wonderful planet.

Hayley has been familiar with the Tarot since being gifted her first pack at the age of twelve. She loves the imagery, the symbols, the colours and their power. Hayley considers the cards to be a doorway to the unknown - the unconscious - unexplored fields that lay within us all.

Having beautiful crystals nearby can amplify the experience of readings, and using a pendulum, scrying and dowsing can give further insights. Being Reiki attuned, Hayley understands healing may come and appreciates the client opening up with her. She feels she and the querant are in a sacred space when giving a reading, and is grateful to have the opportunity to explore workings of the spirit world. Bringing forth the insights that can guide us on our journey through life. Hayley loves working with others on a one-to-one basis and appreciates the wisdom and honesty that can flow when both parties have the same goal.

All her life has been based on connecting with others, communicating and exploring the psyche, understanding motivations and feeling her way intuitively through life. Hayley feels that 'being lost' and 'confused' can be a valuable part of the experience, as chaos can precede 'aha' moments. Clarity and creativity give way to a deeper understanding of why we experience the world the way we do. Her readings are heart-centred, empathic, compassionate and empowering. Understanding the client's free will and decision making will bring forth the next stage of their own personal journey.

Hayley now prefers a simple, quiet life and being in a meditative, reflective state of mind. She spends time with nature as she loves the countryside, gardens and wildlife. Hayley appreciates the peaceful serene feeling that can be hard to find in the modern, fast-paced world.

Have you found yourself going through the UK lockdown (as a result of the Covid-19 crisis) alone? Maybe you are separated or divorced, or just happily single... Whatever the reason for not being in a relationship, many folks have found themselves evaluating their lives during this self-isolation period. Some have thrived, and not found the solitary living an issue, but others may have decided that in the future it might just be time to dip their toes in the dating pool once more!

So, how does one begin to date again...

Online

- Well, you have to start somewhere. Maybe you haven't wanted to try online-dating, but now might be the time to start. If nothing else, it gets the ball rolling and gets you back in the dating game. Start by making a list of half a dozen qualities you are looking for in a partner. Enlist a friend to help you write a profile and start meeting like-minded people.

Advice

- There will probably be family and friends ready to regale you with plenty of horror dating stories. Don't let them discourage you. Dating isn't perfect - online or otherwise. Be safe, but do move forward. Feel confident you know what you want for yourself.

Live Your Life

- Make dating part of your life, not a 'quest'. Maintain your normal full life - going to work, meeting with family and friends, sport and hobbies. This will give you plenty to talk about when you meet with potential partners. Well-rounded people that are not desperate for love, but are merely looking for a future companion are highly attractive to others.

Real Conversation

- Obviously being safe is a priority, but it's also important that you have contact by phone and eventually in person with those that you connect with. Online dating sites and apps can only take you so far. You will likely get a much stronger sense of whether you like a person by speaking to them on the phone and then meeting in person. You may have to be prepared for going on at least two dates per week, and kiss a few frogs along the way (as the saying goes), before you meet someone who seems a serious contender.

Be Kind

- Being kind to yourself and others is important, not every date will flow effortlessly, some people will be more nervous than others. Keep in mind the qualities you want in a person, but also be prepared to give love a chance. Sometime love blossoms with unexpected people that wouldn't normally make 'our list'. Try to enjoy the process, and remember that love is as messy and imperfect as we are!

Astrology

with our expert

Carol Day

Welcome to Free Spirit's in-depth horoscopes for June 2020

Aries

It's more haste less speed for our energetic Aries in June, the cosmos calls you to straighten up and fly right, be careful, avoid short cuts and handle life details better. A Lunar Eclipse on 5th (education/religious) sky shows changes in training for both. There's a classic conundrum home/family versus career, you can't ignore either but have to deal with both. Watch your health and don't work through eclipses! June 21st Solar Eclipse shows good family finances.

Taurus

Although the month ahead is eventful and we have the usual changes which surround eclipses, you are somewhat shielded by the Mars and Venus effect from the Lunar Eclipse of the 5th. This falls into your regeneration sky and causes financial changes for the beloved, so you come to the rescue. Venus sends you her magic makeover rays; new image, new you! Mars sheds a solstice light on the mystical life, and on the Solar Eclipse 21st you have a windfall.

Gemini

Venus bathes you in cosmic stellar light this month as you're still in a yearly pleasure peak. It's a good time to beautify the body and image, look at new health regimes and generally pamper yourself. The main headlines this month are the two eclipses; both impact on your fiscal life showing financial course corrections are needed. The Lunar Eclipse on 5th is in your love sky so romance is being tested and a Solar Eclipse on 21st, brings educational and spiritual inspiration.

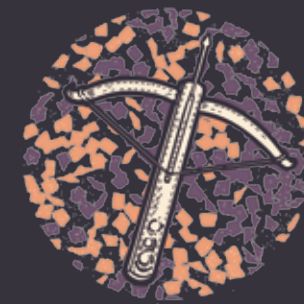

Libra

The Moon is Libra's career planet and her Eclipse on 5th falls into your intellectual/interaction sky, it indicates your career is in a state of flux. There could also be supervisory or industrial changes at work. Venus/Mars two key planets are also impacted by the eclipse which shows you and the beloved need to redefine yourselves. Check cars/computers around the Solar Eclipse on 21st, this falls on a Cardinal point (0 degrees Libra/Aries/Cancer/Capricorn) it has a worldwide effect, not just a personal one.

Scorpio

The main influence in June for Scorpio is the retrograde of Venus, Jupiter and Pluto – three very important planets in your chart. Pluto your ruler represents personal desires. Venus rules the love life and Jupiter your finances, all these areas are slowing down. Yet prosperity will still happen as Jupiter travels with Pluto, and love improves after the 25th when Venus moves forward. It can also bring shifts in the spiritual life, maybe recalling that old time religion.

Sagittarius

We have two eclipses in June and planetary retrograde activity points to its maximum level for the year. The Lunar Eclipse of the 5th occurs in your own sign and affects you strongly, so take a more relaxed schedule at work and play. So, you'll be giving yourself a new look, and enhancing your personality. A Solar Eclipse on 21st also affects your makeover sky and causes spiritual changes. You'll need deep pockets as there are fiscal changes needed for the beloved.

Cancer

Moon folk should take it easy and relax during this double-eclipse month as both affect you strongly. A Lunar Eclipse on the 5th in your health/work sky shows job changes and also new health regimes. The Solar Eclipse on the 21st falls in your own sign, which brings financial changes. This eclipse can also bring about a bodily detox and a redefinition of self, the image and nature you present to others. Be a little patient, you'll be over the moon with the results.

Leo

Career-wise Leo's are slowing down in June, work issues are not clear and only time will bring clarity here, and so you're looking for fun and feeling groovy! This slowdown is caused by retrograde planetary activity at its maximum just now. It's a good time for spiritual progress, worldly doors may be closed, celestial doors are open... A Lunar Eclipse on 5th (fun/children) sky, and a Solar Eclipse on 21st, infers a need to redefine your Leo nature.

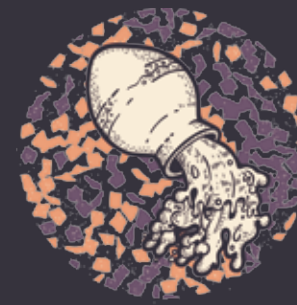

Virgo

Virgo's are still in a yearly career peak until the 21st, so success is yours this month despite the two eclipses; and a personal ambition may be realised. The Lunar Eclipse on the 5th falls in your home/family sky which means passions can run high, and computer repairs may be needed. Wearing your 'peace' hat, you'll soon soothe troubled waters. Money-wise clarity returns on the 25th when Venus moves forward and there's a real chance of a sudden windfall.

Capricorn

Capricorn's love sky is impacted by the two eclipses this month. Every lunar eclipse affects your relationships and this one is no exception, personal dramas with those close to you are impacted. The first Lunar Eclipse on the 5th occurs in your spiritual sky, so there are a few upheavals in your spiritual world. The Solar Eclipse of the 21st falls in your love sky and tests the love-life, perhaps a money crisis is the cause? Reduce your schedule around the eclipses and get plenty of rest.

Aquarius

Our caring water-bearers are still in the midst of a yearly pleasure peak until the 21st this month. Fortunately, your pace of life slows down in your world just now, so you may as well visit your favourite country garden tea-house (lock-down allowing). The Lunar Eclipse on the 5th in your friendship sky shows friendships get tested and the Solar Eclipse of the 21st in your health/work sky bring changes at work. Exploring new health regimes proves very useful in the months ahead.

Pisces

You are a follower of fashion this month and you update your wardrobe with some dreamy outfits ready for your next career push. Luckily Mars is in your sign and brings you financial windfalls, so you don't have to worry about cost. A Lunar Eclipse on the 5th falls in your career sky which shows beneficial changes. A Solar Eclipse of the 21st falls in your fun/children sky, then the Sun moves into your 5th house on 21st, so you're in a yearly pleasure peak. Enjoy!
